

Company Sites

If you know of a particular company that you'd like to work for, sometimes it's best to go straight to their official website. Corey heard about openings at Costco, so he'll visit their website to search directly for jobs.

His search results include advertisements in the shaded area at the top.

These ads might eventually lead him to an application, but sometimes they are just there to collect personal information and make money off of ad revenue.

They might also require additional, unnecessary steps before sending Corey to the real job application.

If you look at the URLs to these sites, you can see they are career and job sites, and not part of the Costco company site.

In order to save time and keep his information private, Corey will look for the official company site. The URL that includes “costco.com” is the correct one. This takes us straight to the jobs portion of Costco’s website.

The screenshot shows the Costco Wholesale website. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for SHOP, BUSINESS DELIVERY, PHARMACY, SERVICES, PHOTO, and TRAVEL. Below the navigation bar, there are links for Warehouse Locations, Renew Membership, Join Costco, Email Sign-Up, Costco Cash Card Balance, and Customer Support. The main header features the 'COSTCO WHOLESALE' logo. A banner on the right side of the header says 'Click here for warehouse savings valid through 10/15/13'. Below the header, there is a search bar with the placeholder 'What do you want to find?' and a 'SEARCH' button. To the right of the search bar is a 'CART' icon. The main content area has a heading 'Career Opportunities For You'. On the left, there is a sidebar with the text 'Our business is growing' and 'COME JOIN OUR TEAM'. It includes a link 'Click Here to Apply Online' and a small image of four people standing together with a 'COSTCO' sign. The main content area also includes a 'DID YOU KNOW?' section and a 'WHAT ARE YOU LOOKING FOR IN A CAREER?' section with a bulleted list.

Corey scrolls down to the Warehouse section.

COSTCO WELCOMES VETERANS

Costco Wholesale values the contributions that you have made and the experiences you have gained in service to our country. We're looking for people with a passion for the retail industry who are able to provide great leadership. Your experience, coupled with our fast-paced environment, could lead to an exciting career.

Information is available at www.dol.gov/e-verify or www.dol.gov/e-verify/employers.

Once he's found it, he can click to apply for jobs online.

A new page loads that will let Corey do a search. At this point, notice the address bar at the top.

Although we started out at costco.com, we're now at a different web address.

This is because Costco has redirected us away from their normal website and to their job application service.

This is normal for many websites to do. As long as we start out at a trustworthy site and avoid clicking on misleading advertisements, it should be okay.

The new URL also begins with “https,” which means that any personal information we type in will be delivered to them securely.

Now Corey needs to do a search.

Sometimes sites allow us to search by the type of job or by the job title. This website just lets us search by location.

The screenshot shows a web browser displaying the Costco Wholesale job application page. The URL in the address bar is <https://www.costcojobs.com/>. The page title is "Welcome to Costco". At the top, there is a banner with the text "Our business is growing" and "Come join our team!" with a small graphic of people. Below the banner, there are navigation links: "Home", "All Available Jobs", "Jobs by Location", and "New Locations". A "Returning Applicant? Sign In" link is also present. The main content area is titled "Welcome to Costco" and includes two buttons: "Apply to a Specific Position" and "Apply for a Location Near You". A message below the buttons states: "Thank you for your interest in Costco Wholesale. If you have the desire to work in a fast-paced, fun environment, interacting with a diverse group of people, look no further. Costco Wholesale provides equal opportunity in all areas of employment and does not discriminate against any individual regardless of race, color, religion, sex, age, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, or other protected classes under federal, state, or local law." A note in the center of the page says: "If you need a reasonable accommodation in completing these application or the application process, please contact the Costco Location where you will be applying." Below this, it says: "Your application will remain active for 60 days. Costco Wholesale is an Equal Opportunity Employer." To the right, there is a box for "Returning Applicants" with the text "Sign in now to complete your application." and a "Sign In" link. On the left, there is a dropdown menu for "Select State" with a list of US states. The state "South Carolina" is highlighted in blue. The dropdown menu also includes a "City" field and a "Find location nearest you" link. At the bottom, there is a note: "or qualified people as we open new locations."

Corey chooses South Carolina and Charleston from the drop-down menus.
